Day 26

> And I sought for a man among them who should build up the wall and stand in the breach before me for the land, that I should not destroy it, but I found none. Therefore I have poured out my indignation upon them. I have consumed them with the fire of my wrath. I have returned their way upon their heads, declares the Lord God. Ezekiel 22:30-31 (ESV)

It does not require great spiritual discernment to appreciate that every nation on the earth today has a legacy of sin. God is not unaware of our sin, and there is reason to be concerned about how much wrath may be stored up for us. Remember that the God that rained fire and brimstone on Sodom and Gomorrah is the same God Who told Abraham that He would withhold His wrath if He could find but 10 righteous people there. Most people interpret the above Scripture as a call to prayer, but whereas “the prayer of a righteous person has great power” it is also true that “if anyone turns a deaf ear to the law, even his prayers are detestable”. Ask God to help you become a righteous person who can “stand in the breach” and pray with power. List areas where you, your family and your country need to call out to God for mercy.
